

PRODUCT ROUNDUP

CASE LOGIC Cross-Body Reflexion

New from Case Logic is the Reflexion DSLR + iPad Small Cross Body Bag. A removable padded camera pod with a drawstring closure holds a DSLR and an additional lens or flash; simply remove the pod to turn the Cross-Body Bag into a messenger bag. But even with the insert, there's plenty of room for an iPad and accessories in well-designed pockets. This top-opening bag offers lots of room to grab and store your camera without scraping the back of your hand on a zipper. Mesh side pockets are perfect for water bottles and other on-the-road necessities. Prettiest in pomegranate (above), the Reflexion also comes in anthracite or morel for those who prefer neutral colors.

TAMRAC The Aria

When you're traveling light, consider Tamrac's Aria 1. At 7 x 2.5 x 6 inches (exterior) and weighing 7 ounces, it's compact and featherweight compared to most camera bags, but it's still roomy enough to fit a mirrorless camera with a lens attached, along with an additional lens, flash and accessories. It's available in other sizes as well, if you'd rather carry a DSLR, but we like the idea of walking around unencumbered. Constructed from smooth, water-resistant nylon fabric in berry, moss green, black or brown, the Aria is durable, too, proving that it's more than just a pretty bag.

ONA Union Street Messenger

Exceedingly handsome in walnut leather, ONA's Union Street (which is also available in waxed canvas) is handcrafted from naturally-milled Italian leather and is as functional as it is well-designed and constructed. With exterior dimensions of 16 x 11 x 5.5 inches and an interior size of 15.5 x 10 x 5.5, the Union Street can accommodate enough gear to easily get through a basic shoot. There's room for a DSLR (with lens attached), as well as three to four additional lenses and a 15-inch laptop. Use the zippered front organizer pocket for additional accessories and personal items.

PRICES: $489 (LEATHER); $299 (WAXED CANVAS)
